FIJI 2012 #F12FPBP01

PRODUCTION

Raw material	Molasses
Still type	Pot still
Tropical aging Continental aging	2 years in ex-Bourbon cask 10 years in ex-Bourbon cask
Bottling strength	64.5 %
Number of bottles	238

This bottling was distilled in 2012 and initially aged in Fiji's tropical climate in an ex-Bourbon cask until 2014. Then, it finished its maturation in the European climate in the same type of barrel. This single cask shows the iconic and unique nature of Fijian rum at its finest, bottled at cask strength to highlight its full potential.

TASTING NOTES

Nose: The aromatic experience is highly concentrated showing medicinal and herbacous notes which are balanced by ripe fruit and a vanilla honeyed backbone.

Palate: An energetic palate carries through notes of spice bread, candied pear and fresh walnut bolstered by the typical Fijian character of petrol, new car and wet cement. Long aging gives way to rich mahogany tones which layer and envelope the palate.

Finish: The finish is characterised by notes of flowering geranium and bourbon vanilla that reach harmony with flavors of lime tart and custardy vanilla.
